MALACANANG CANNOT USE THE recent Supreme Court decision allowing President Macapagal-Arroyo to appoint the next Chief Justice to justify the recent spate of so-called midnight appointments, court spokespersons said Marquero said yesterday.

Marquero said the March 17 decision rescinding the Supreme Court from the constitutional ban against appointments beginning two months from the May 30 elections did not allow Mr. Arroyo to fill vacancies in other offices during the period.

"The Supreme Court decision as construed is by now justiciable, and which is not justiciable, only straight appointments to the Supreme Court from the bar," Marquero said in a text message to reporters.

He said the appointments of Eduardo Pasikla Jr. and Renato Hernandez.

THE PHILIPPINE LAGA ALAN showed its commitment to the environment with the participation of some 15 million Filipinos in the observance of "Earth Hour" on Saturday.

More than 1,000 cities and municipalities in the Philippines have taken part in Earth Hour, the largest number of any country or territory participating in Earth Hour this year, organizers said in the Earth Hour 2010 official blog (<http://earthhour.org/philippines.com/?page=31>).

The organizers said the "sustained show" of support for Earth Hour was complemented by some of the country's 150,000,000 4 14

Comelec rules on overseas voting out

By Laila B. Salaverria

OFFICIALS ADMINISTERING the month-long overseas absentee voting in Hong Kong and Singapore have been ordered to print status reports of the process at the start and end of each day.

The report will contain the number of those who had voted and the number of valid ballots counted, according to Resolution No. 8888 that was released by the Commission on Elections (Comelec).

over the weekend.

The resolution contains general instructions for the special board of election inspectors and special ballot reception and custody group on the receiving, counting and transmission of results for the following in Hong Kong and Singapore.

Because of the large number of absentee voters in Hong Kong and Singapore, the precinct count optical scan (PCOS) machines provided by the Comelec for the country's first automated election will be used there.

In other countries, the usual process of sending out ballots via mail, or cutting voters personally in designated polling centers and having the ballots counted manually, will be observed.

Filipinos won't accept a junta even if the May elections fall and produce no successor to President Macapagal-Arroyo, according to Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile.

Enrile acknowledged that a military takeover was possible in a tense situation, such as a failure of elections.

But the people have rejected the idea of a military-controlled government since 1986, said Enrile, the defense secretary when Ferdinand Marcos declared martial law in 1972 until he fled away from the country in 1986, which led to a popular uprising that toppled Marcos.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MUSLIMS AND ALL LOVERS OF PEACE

For several decades now, the Moro people are still deprived their God-given right to self-determination and be fully recognized for their distinct culture and identity. This is the root of the Moro conflict that spawned four decades of armed rebellion in Mindanao. An opportunity to resolve the conflict came forth when peace negotiators of both the government and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) formulated the historic Memorandum of Agreement on Ancestral Domain (MOA-AD) that sought to end 'historical injustices' against the Moro people.

But politicians vultures, led by Mar Roxas and Frank Drilon swooped down on the MOA-AD even before it could take its course, paving the way for renewed war in August 2008. Today, these people are presenting themselves as worthy of the public's trust by running for political office. Joining them is the ever incorrigible war advocate, Erap Estrada. Well, Drilon and Estrada are long past their time of having hoodwinked the people for their trust. But what is disturbing is the unrepentant Roxas whose anti-Moro stance seems to grow even stronger as he sees political victory in May 10, 2010 as just around the corner. He deserves no less than political defeat to shake him off from apathy.

Several Muslim religious leaders have spoken about their worries regarding the candidacy of these people. In a March 9, 2010 fatwa (religious edict), Marawi City's Grand Imam, Sheikh Jamil Datu Haron Yahya said:

"After studying the actions and policies of Mr. Erap Estrada before and after his election as president until this present time, we found out that he is really an enemy of Islam. Likewise, Mar Roxas and Franklin Drilon who were strongly opposed to the MOA-AD and filed a petition-intervention before the Supreme Court against the signing of the MOA-AD. Hence, up to the present, they are against the welfare of the Bangsamoro.

Also, due to their being anti-Muslim and anti-peace, we strongly call all Bangsamoro people not to vote for them (Roxas, Erap and Drilon.) Voting for them is Haram (Forbidden)."

Inspired by the example of Yahya, Islamic scholar Abu Thabit Saripad wrote the following opinion which supports the basic idea of the fatwa:

"Every Muslim should help in Philippine politics with a clean intention of achieving the prosperity of the people and the nation. It is an obligation of every Muslim in the Philippines to help not to let those candidates that are against the Muslims and Islam win, from the presidency and in every position, just like Erap. Those who have the least evil or those who are not against the Muslims and Islam should be supported. That is what Allah means in his verse: (Surah Al-Mumtahinah: 8-9).

Lessons learned from this verse:

1. Non-Muslims are of two kinds. First, those who fight against Muslims and his work is to destroy and oppress the Muslims. Second, those who treat Muslims in a good way and in justice, and not against the Muslims and Islam.
2. Those non-Muslims who are not against Islam should be treated fairly and justly. They should not aggrieve them because they could help for the betterment of the community and the nation. Just like voting a candidate who is not against the Muslims.
3. It is unlawful and forbidden to support the candidates who are against the Muslims, like Erap who killed many Muslims. It is also reported that they slaughtered a pig in a masjid in (Camp) Abu Bakr, and used the Qur-an as a tissue paper.

That is why we need to widen our mind and open our hearts to help the candidates who have the qualifications of loyalty, honesty and strength for (bringing about social) transformation."

Let us remember: catapulting Roxas, Drilon and Estrada into power will only give them greater leverage to thwart any attempt to build lasting peace in Mindanao!

Sincerely,

Concerned Muslim Citizens of the Philippines

HOUSTON, LITTLE—THE EXODUS OF President Barack Obama's allies from the administration continues to the role of his, Houston's Hill of the Houstonian Party of the President's real challenge to president is, too, Michael Oakes told Saturday.

"The life support will support anybody who the fact has enough resources to win," Oakes, himself a presidential candidate, said the Republican party said.

This is for the president after the steps down from all his friends.

"That's what's playing with everybody. If you have a money man, you've got enough money to buy the support of the party," Oakes said.

Recently, allies of the President, the Texas magazine Money Magazine, Houstonian, Joe Ann Ma. Tabor and former House Speaker "Chico" Rogers have all reported similar, negative attitudes toward Obama's efforts to support Obama.

"Excluded politicians need to go with Obama. They do not see their hands. It is no longer a question of whether but of what the president's," Oakes said.

THE TRUTH BEHIND THE CHEAPER MEDICINES ACT

Senator Mar Roxas, you have passed a WATERED DOWN VERSION of the ORIGINAL Cheaper Medicines Bill filed at the 13th and 14th Congress by Representatives Rolox Suplico and Ferjanel Biron respectively.

We DEMAND that you EXPLAIN to the FILIPINO PEOPLE why your Cheaper Medicines Act sought to get LESS FOR THE PEOPLE and MORE for the PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANIES.

Cheaper Medicines Bill of the 14th Congress	Senate Bill 1658 Mar Roxas Version
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Inclusion of 1500 essential medicines covered by the reduction of price• Maximum price reduction of 80-90% reduction of existing prices	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Limited reduction coverage to only 22 essential medicines• Limited maximum retail price reduction to only 50%

You hail your Cheaper Medicines Act - but in reality YOUR VERSION is only for the elite, the rich and perhaps the middle class.

80% of our Filipino people are living below poverty line. Millions of Filipinos are suffering and even dying because with YOUR Cheaper Medicines Act, THEY STILL CANNOT AFFORD the high cost of essential medicines.

By your joint statement with your presidential candidate, if elected, you promise to further LOWER down the price of medicines. This is an ADMISSION that your version is flawed and watered down. Why then, did you not use the original bill?

Mr. Senator, we hold you responsible for the great tragedy that you have inflicted upon our people.

Vatican defensive over predator priests

VATICAN CITY—POPE BENEDICT XVI WILL NOT be weakened by abuse scandals rocking the Roman Catholic Church, the Vatican said on Sunday, amid mounting criticism of his handling of predator priests.

"The Vatican, which dominated a New York Times report on Friday that Benedict had ordered in 1980 to stop priests accused of sexually abusing children, put up a better face than most remaining victims in newspapers and magazines."

"The recent media attacks have without doubt caused damage," Vatican spokesman Federico Lombardi told Italy's state news agency.

"But the authority of the Pope and the commitment of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith—the Vatican's moral watchdog—were backed by bishops—against an abuse of bishops will come out of this not weakened but strengthened," he said.

"The way the Church dealt with the issue 'is crucial for its moral credibility' to succeed."

The defence came in an event, paper labeled the Catholic Church in Rome newspaper.

Some Catholics recalled a March 2003 statement that then Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger made several weeks before taking over as Pope on the death of John Paul II.

"There must still be in the Church, and even among those who, in the past, might be falling morally in Christ," he wrote.

"And, your Church often seems like a boat about to sink, a boat taking in water on every side," he said, apparently misled of other critics of his position in 1983 a decree to keep pedophile priests away from children.

He was "the first to see the need for new, stricter rules" to attack pedophilia, said German Cardinal Walter Kasper, president of the Pontifical Council for Promoting Christian Unity in Italy's Catholic daily, L'Espresso.

"The time has come for the Church to take a stance of care and courage in dealing with the problem," he said.

"The Pope is surely the biggest sin in the world," said the Italian Catholic Church, "one of the greatest sins in the world," he said.

There may be a chance but as one reporter applying for a document, and Italian journalist Sandro Magister, who spent time on the Catholic Church and the Vatican.

"The story continues, some people try to propose and others of the Church," he said. AFP But the Pope has already, for example, defended military priests after allegations it may be blacklisted. "I am not a doctor in the Church," he said in the past 2,000 years, then, have been only two resignations—in 1999 and 2013.

However, some newspapers have opened up the Pope's defense with no Catholic objections, which said the Pope was "being attacked from the outside but not being moved," while he was sitting in the chair "for his teaching."

French regional daily Le Progrès du Centre said it was unclear "being open the Pope all the world's sin." AFP

Thai government, protesters to hold talks

BANGKOK—Thailand's government and self-styled protesters loyal to ousted prime Thaksin Shinawatra said they would hold talks on Sunday aimed at ending two months of democratic crisis. The "Red Shirts" had just announced a peace conference. Meechai Aduladorn was to agree to the meeting, threatening to march in front of his assets on the military barracks where he has been held up. "The government has confirmed we are ready to talk," said Thaksin's spokesman, the prime minister's office, but a statement press conference. "The government's position is that we want to discuss conflict. We made a proposal and the protesters accepted—it is a good sign. It is a good way out," said Aduladorn's spokesman. But the talks were deemed to fail because the protesters have only one demand—kick Aduladorn to replace an administration they criticize as corrupt and undemocratic.

321 civilians killed in 2009 massacre in Congo

GENÈVE, SWITZERLAND—AT LEAST 321 civilians were killed in a previously unreported massacre in Congo in late 2009, while villagers that escaped the attack in the Mambouzi area of north-eastern Congo, including no less than 80 children.

Human Rights Watch's Africa division, which is based in New York, said the massacre "was one of the worst ever recorded by the UN in its bloody 50-year history."

In the killing spree, which occurred from Dec. 14 to Dec. 17 in at least 10 villages, had gone unreported for months.

The massacre of those killed were men who were not armed, but were being forced to work with the militia, who were then killed.

With Dell Equallogic™ iSCSI SAN solution, SMOE has reduced backup time by 70%, simplified storage management and paved the way for virtualization.

"Automating file migration to SAN, using Equallogic, has time taken to backup data been reduced by almost 70%."

The combined SAN solution has helped SMOE enjoy a significant improvement in response time and reliability, allowing a disaster recovery plan, simplify storage management and reduce backup time.

"Any need to increase storage can be handled and immediately as a SAN can be expanded to meet increasing demand without requiring a server refresh."

By consolidating the company's SAN system to a Dell Equallogic solution, they saved SMOE an estimated $200,000. The Equallogic migration has also enabled the

IT team to move forward on data backup without other delays for greater business efficiency and cost-effectiveness.

Treasury to issue P107B worth of IOUs

2nd quarter borrowing plan

By Rowen M. Domingo

THE BUREAU OF THE TREASURY plans to issue a total of P107 billion in debt paper in the second quarter, a little more than half of which would be in bonds.

The amount is less than the planned borrowing of P130.5 billion in the previous quarter and an increase from the P144.5 billion a year ago.

For 2010, the government has initially set a budget deficit ceiling of P200 billion, which is about the same as the level in 2009.

According to the Treasury, it is scheduled to offer in seven auctions a total of P42.5 billion in 30-day bills, 370.5 billion in 181-day bills and P14.5 billion in 364-day bills.

Also in the first quarter, the Treasury is set to offer two batches each of 30-day and 181-day bonds, each batch worth P10.5 billion.

A 500-batch of Treasury bonds will have a maturity of seven months while a third will have 20 years, both also worth P10.5 billion each.

Last week, Finance Secretary Margareth L. Diver said the government would continue implementing this year's spending program to maintain economic growth.

Diver said Malacating has committed at least P300 billion for stimulus spending this year as the economy remains "fragile" amid the continuing effects of the global financial crisis.

The Bureau chief said half of the amount would come from the national government's budget while the balance would be sourced from the rest of the public sector.

He said the government was still pursuing

Slow trading seen

AFTER A BULLISH BEGINNING LAST week, a thin sideways trading is expected during this short-lived week ahead of the long Easter break.

The main stock Philippine Stock Exchange index is up nearly 2.85 percent week-on-week to 1,150.50, posting two-year highs for most of the week.

"I will most likely make sideways, sideways and prefer to have very minimal position over this long weekend as they will be trading on what would happen in the US and other markets over the long weekend," said John Mark Lacion, head of research at local stock brokerage Campan Lacion & Co.

The index is expected to gain trading only until Wednesday this week.

Vista Residences' Trevi: A Home The Urban Warrior Deserves

"There's no such thing as a free lunch."

That goes for the bells ring of the typical city-dwelling city worker too. These bells ring every day for noise, traffic and push of endless bureaucracy just to spend eight or more hours facing the insupportable stress of work. Often, in the urban warrior, these become simply a box that allows for a momentary escape to ease and quickly disappears and is never heard for the very last hours work has spent. The results of Manila's aging workers are too and to believe, and added to that, workers who actually move the economy, have also often the least regard for.

Luxurious Trevi's design was created to allow the completion of nighttime and ventilation throughout its three towers and up to its 37 stories.

The Trevi also offers residents the richness and warmth of a grand hotel lobby.

ENTER VISTA RESIDENCES' LAUREANO DI TREVI

Standing tall and reaching for the stars is the heart of the heart of Manila. Trevi changes the way we think about Manila's modern living. A complete breakthrough from the "tower" that has become "space" of the afternoon Manila modernism, each Trevi unit is built with great comfort and grace and with the thoughtful and well-crafted space planning every line and development to know.

A beautiful development of Vista Residences - the modernism are at Vista Land & Lifescapes, Inc., the country's premier property developer. Trevi is a three-tower project with a commercial and luxury podium linking the towers. This offers its residents plenty to meet, dine, and completely enjoy their precious time away from the office.

LOOKS GREAT, LIVES IN THE CITY

While most modern developments today focus their location and affordability, naturally almost is any measure of the quality of life. To humans, beauty and comfort is a reward. It strengthens the spirit and inspires the soul, making it more with ease to face the hassles of everyday living. Trevi was beautifully designed, precisely to be a premium at the end of the day. So that we can come home and live to ourselves, "We did a great job. We deserve to be beautiful."

The architecture of Trevi is breathtaking. Designed not to compromise the cost, but also to "harvest the wind." The exquisite glass and steel marvel was created to allow the circulation of natural light and ventilation throughout its three towers and up to its 37 stories. With the vision of creating an actual "tower" in the sky, Trevi has limited the number of its units to a little over one thousand in all, to allow for wider space, better security and more privacy.

Extremely affordable, and conveniently accessible, Trevi occupies the skyline along Pasig Teras. It is very close proximity to schools such as Washington College, Don Buan and Colegio de San Agustin, such as Greenbelt, Market Center Square, Robinsons and Robinsons, and medical facilities such as the Makati Medical Center.

OUR GRAND LORRY SAYS, "WELCOME HOME, WE'RE SO GLAD YOU'RE BACK"

One fact that sets Trevi apart from other Manila condominiums, particularly the many along Pasig Teras, is its exquisite lobby. Designed to create the great and majestic of a hotel lobby, the Trevi lobby is a doorway to an oasis. It leads one into the sanctuary that shields out the worries of the day, and bathes away the world's troubles. Created to be really what a reception area should be, its well-lit, minimalist design, soft music, and every opportunity will ensure the residents and their guests will continue to be the best of the best. Trevi, Trevi Trevi Trevi.

A DIFFERENCE THAT TRANSLATES TO DESIRE

Completely committed to our residents, Trevi was designed to be the most desired address along Pasig Teras. The building offers amenities, tight security measures, significant 100% on-site and legal, and stunning architecture are a representative of what Vista Residences believes every other superior desire of and what is rightfully deserved.

You only live once.

Focus for a moment and think about this: Just how many moments of something memorable it may be harder hard with your family in Tagaytay, a drive where the full moon shined you home, a video day where multicolored balloons were with you in close motion, seeing your Lolo say his last words as he lay there for the first time, or something like on the spot playing tag with passing relatives. Careless things happen around us, and sometimes they are beautiful in their unfolding.

Each day, each moment, is an opportunity to create memories, and more often than not there are others we wish we had something to remember these moments by.

This is where Canon steps in, and this year, it introduces its comprehensive range of imaging solutions against the backdrop of an all-new campaign: One Life.

Ken Aguirre, President, Director of the Canon Imaging Communications Program Division, "Canon is not in the business of selling cameras. We are in the business of creating relationships, and of providing such and every day a means to capture and retain life as it unfolds about and beyond family ties, we are in the business of creating lives through photography." With the One Life Campaign, Canon aims to inspire Filipinos to create moments and create memories. "There's a Canon to help every last one of us today - regardless of lifestyle, moment, age or profession."

Just recently, Canon was recognized as the country's No. 1 Digital Camera and Digital Still based by GFK Philippines for the GFK Group, one of the largest market research companies in the world, as awarded a top consumer held on in June 2007. It was also crowned for the fourth consecutive year the Gold Award in the Business Digital World Brand survey. These are measures that Canon attributes to its dedication to delighting consumers - from brand to product quality, customer service and excellent after-sale service.

Thus, Canon takes pride in being the country's digital imaging expert, offering an extensive line-up of image and image devices to help every Filipino make the most of every moment and immortalize every precious memory.

Because indeed, time truly may like sand slipping through the grasp of a dream - it waits for us who have the freedom to grab every opportunity that comes our way and make lasting memories out of them.

Now it's all up to you. Make the most of every moment, because you only have one life to live. Smile to wish Canon.

Grand night for RP movies' 'golden stars'

By Rapunzel San Diego Jr.

IN CELEBRATION OF WOMEN'S MONTH, two academic institutions, the UP Film Institute and La Consuelacion College, paid tribute to women actresses who've made lasting contributions to the entertainment industry.

In Consuelacion College dubbed the honorees "Living Legends of Philippine Cinema." Director Rick Tanaka, who conceptualized the event called "Grand Pinnacle to Women's Month," said that the "golden stars" awarded "unparalleled dedication, discipline, excellence, professionalism and integrity."

"Today's generation could learn a lot from these women's performance," Lim explained.

Documenting the Filipino

By Raymond Suen, Design Director

THE SECOND PHASE OF THE CONCERNED workshop, "Developing the New Filipino Documentary," brought 12 local students and their two European teachers all over Metro Manila—from a sheltered campus in Loyola Heights to a shanty town in Tondo, from a ferry crane along polluted Pasig River to a boat ride to the endangered mangroves near Cuenca de Basil.

The teachers, Filomena Ibarra-Perez and Danielito Dillan, are first-time visitors to the country and are amazed by the "extreme highs and lows" of Philippine society.

"We were supposed to guide the students through their field work, but we were so unfamiliar with the field," said Donatelli. "Thompson is losing by comparison. Manila is a crisp, unobscured place. It's heavenly."

"Films documentarians are close to the truth...in reality," Hans noted. "It's exciting to see how the movies go straight

The Turkish-born Dörmek, currently based in Cologne, Germany, were particularly struck by a shiny commercial built inside an abandoned parking lot, miles in from the city.

"It was dark...like a scene from Samuel's Inferno," Pardo said. "It was raining when we went, so there was water in the compound," Damascio recalled. "In spite of the poverty, it was apparent that the residents are trying to make their lives bet- ter."

"A remarkable story of survival," Evans said. "In the middle of the storm was a school," Domaradzki related.

Another memorable trip for them was the mangrove shoot. "There was gaffing everywhere. It's like a broken paradise. It's sad that in a society where money is a problem, environmental concerns take a back seat."

Personal, political

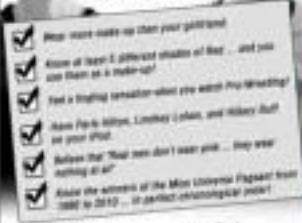

The Delinios are interested in the interaction between the personal and the political. Franco explained, and the function is evident in their own songs which explored the "double lives" of Hollywood actresses Joan Seberg and Holly Laitner), and some Spanish writers from Majakovsk and Valera Norte.

The documentarians' visit to the country was made possible by the Eweha Institute Manila, the National Commission on Culture and the Arts, the College of Saint Benedict and the Philippine Independent Filmmakers Cooperative.

Four remarked that they also acquired insights about the country through interactions with gay activist Danton Robinson and indie filmmaker Lay (Max). (Two of the analysts are making dinner reservations and Dine.)

"Now, I know more about Manila than Cologne," Donatelli joked. "The Philippines is a rich country for documentarians. There are a lot of untold stories... tales of life and death, hardship and hope for a better future."

TIP Quezon City bags new CHED Center of Development in Civil Engineering

THE TECHNOLOGICAL INSTITUTE OF THE PHILIPPINES - QUEZON CITY (TIPOC) bags a new Commission on Higher Education (CHED) Center of Development (COD) in Civil Engineering (CE).

This is the third COD for TIPOC, having been awarded a COD in Information Technology Education and a COD in Computer Engineering.

The extension of TIPOC and Center of Development was based on the results of the consultation and deliberation conducted by the COD evaluators and the recommendation of the Technical Panel for Engineering and Technology (TPET).

According to CHED Office of Programs and Standards Director Dr. R. Francisco F. Francisco (2011), "...only 12 of the 22 applications qualified for COD in Civil Engineering." Out of the 12 new CODs in the early century, only four are located in the National Capital Region, namely, the Technological Institute of the Philippines - Quezon City (TIPOC), the La Salle University, Mapua Institute of Technology, and University of Cebu - Cebu.

In December 2009, the CHED awarded TIPOC as the highest performing institution. It would be a higher education institution, and TIP Manila, Benguet and Iloilo.

The granting of accreditation status is much like a seal of approval with corresponding benefits or perks given to specific institutions. TIPOC received awards for its CODs. Level II Accredited Status for the CHED Engineering, Computer Engineering and most recently Electrical Engineering, to Level II Accredited Status for other programs, and to ISO 9001:2008 certification for its Quality Management System. Dr. Francisco G. Salas, TIP president, explained that the new TIPOC COD in Civil Engineering has further raised the general level of quality of TIPOC.

Education, success and death

Or what frustration over not getting tenured or getting your child into your dream school can do

By Grace Sheung-Han Kan

I SUSPECT THE rule may come to everyone's mind. The first two words do appear together frequently, but what about age?

No one has age, two months' gestation, one-month-old babies, and both completed education and death.

Killing for tenure

Three professors at Ateneo de Manila University at Ateneo de Manila University were shot to death on Feb. 11 by a colleague who had been denied tenure.
